STEPPING INTO THE FUTURE

Four Foundations of Self-Leadership

PREPARING FOR LIFE IN UNIVERSITY

Before we graduate, let's lead ourselves well—so we can live, learn, and shine for God wherever He calls us.

1

SELF-CONTROL

Leading Your Character

I choose what is right.

I control my emotions, actions, and desires so my choices reflect God's truth and honor Him.

This helps me to:

- Make wise decisions
- Resist temptation
- Build healthy relationships
- Live with integrity and discipline

2

SELF-MANAGEMENT

Leading Your Responsibilities

I manage my life well.

I am organized, responsible, and intentional with my time, resources, and commitments.

This helps me to:

- Manage my time effectively
- Handle my finances wisely
- Take care of my health
- Balance academics and life
- Fulfill my responsibilities

3

SELF-MASTERY

Leading Your Growth

I keep growing.

I develop my potential, learn continuously, and persevere to achieve academic success and excellence.

This helps me to:

- Learn effectively and think critically
- Achieve academic success
- Adapt to new challenges
- Build resilience and bounce back
- Keep improving every day

4

SELF-TRANSCENDENCE

Leading with God's Purpose

I live for God's purpose.

I know my identity in Christ, discern His calling, and use my gifts to make a difference for His glory.

This helps me to:

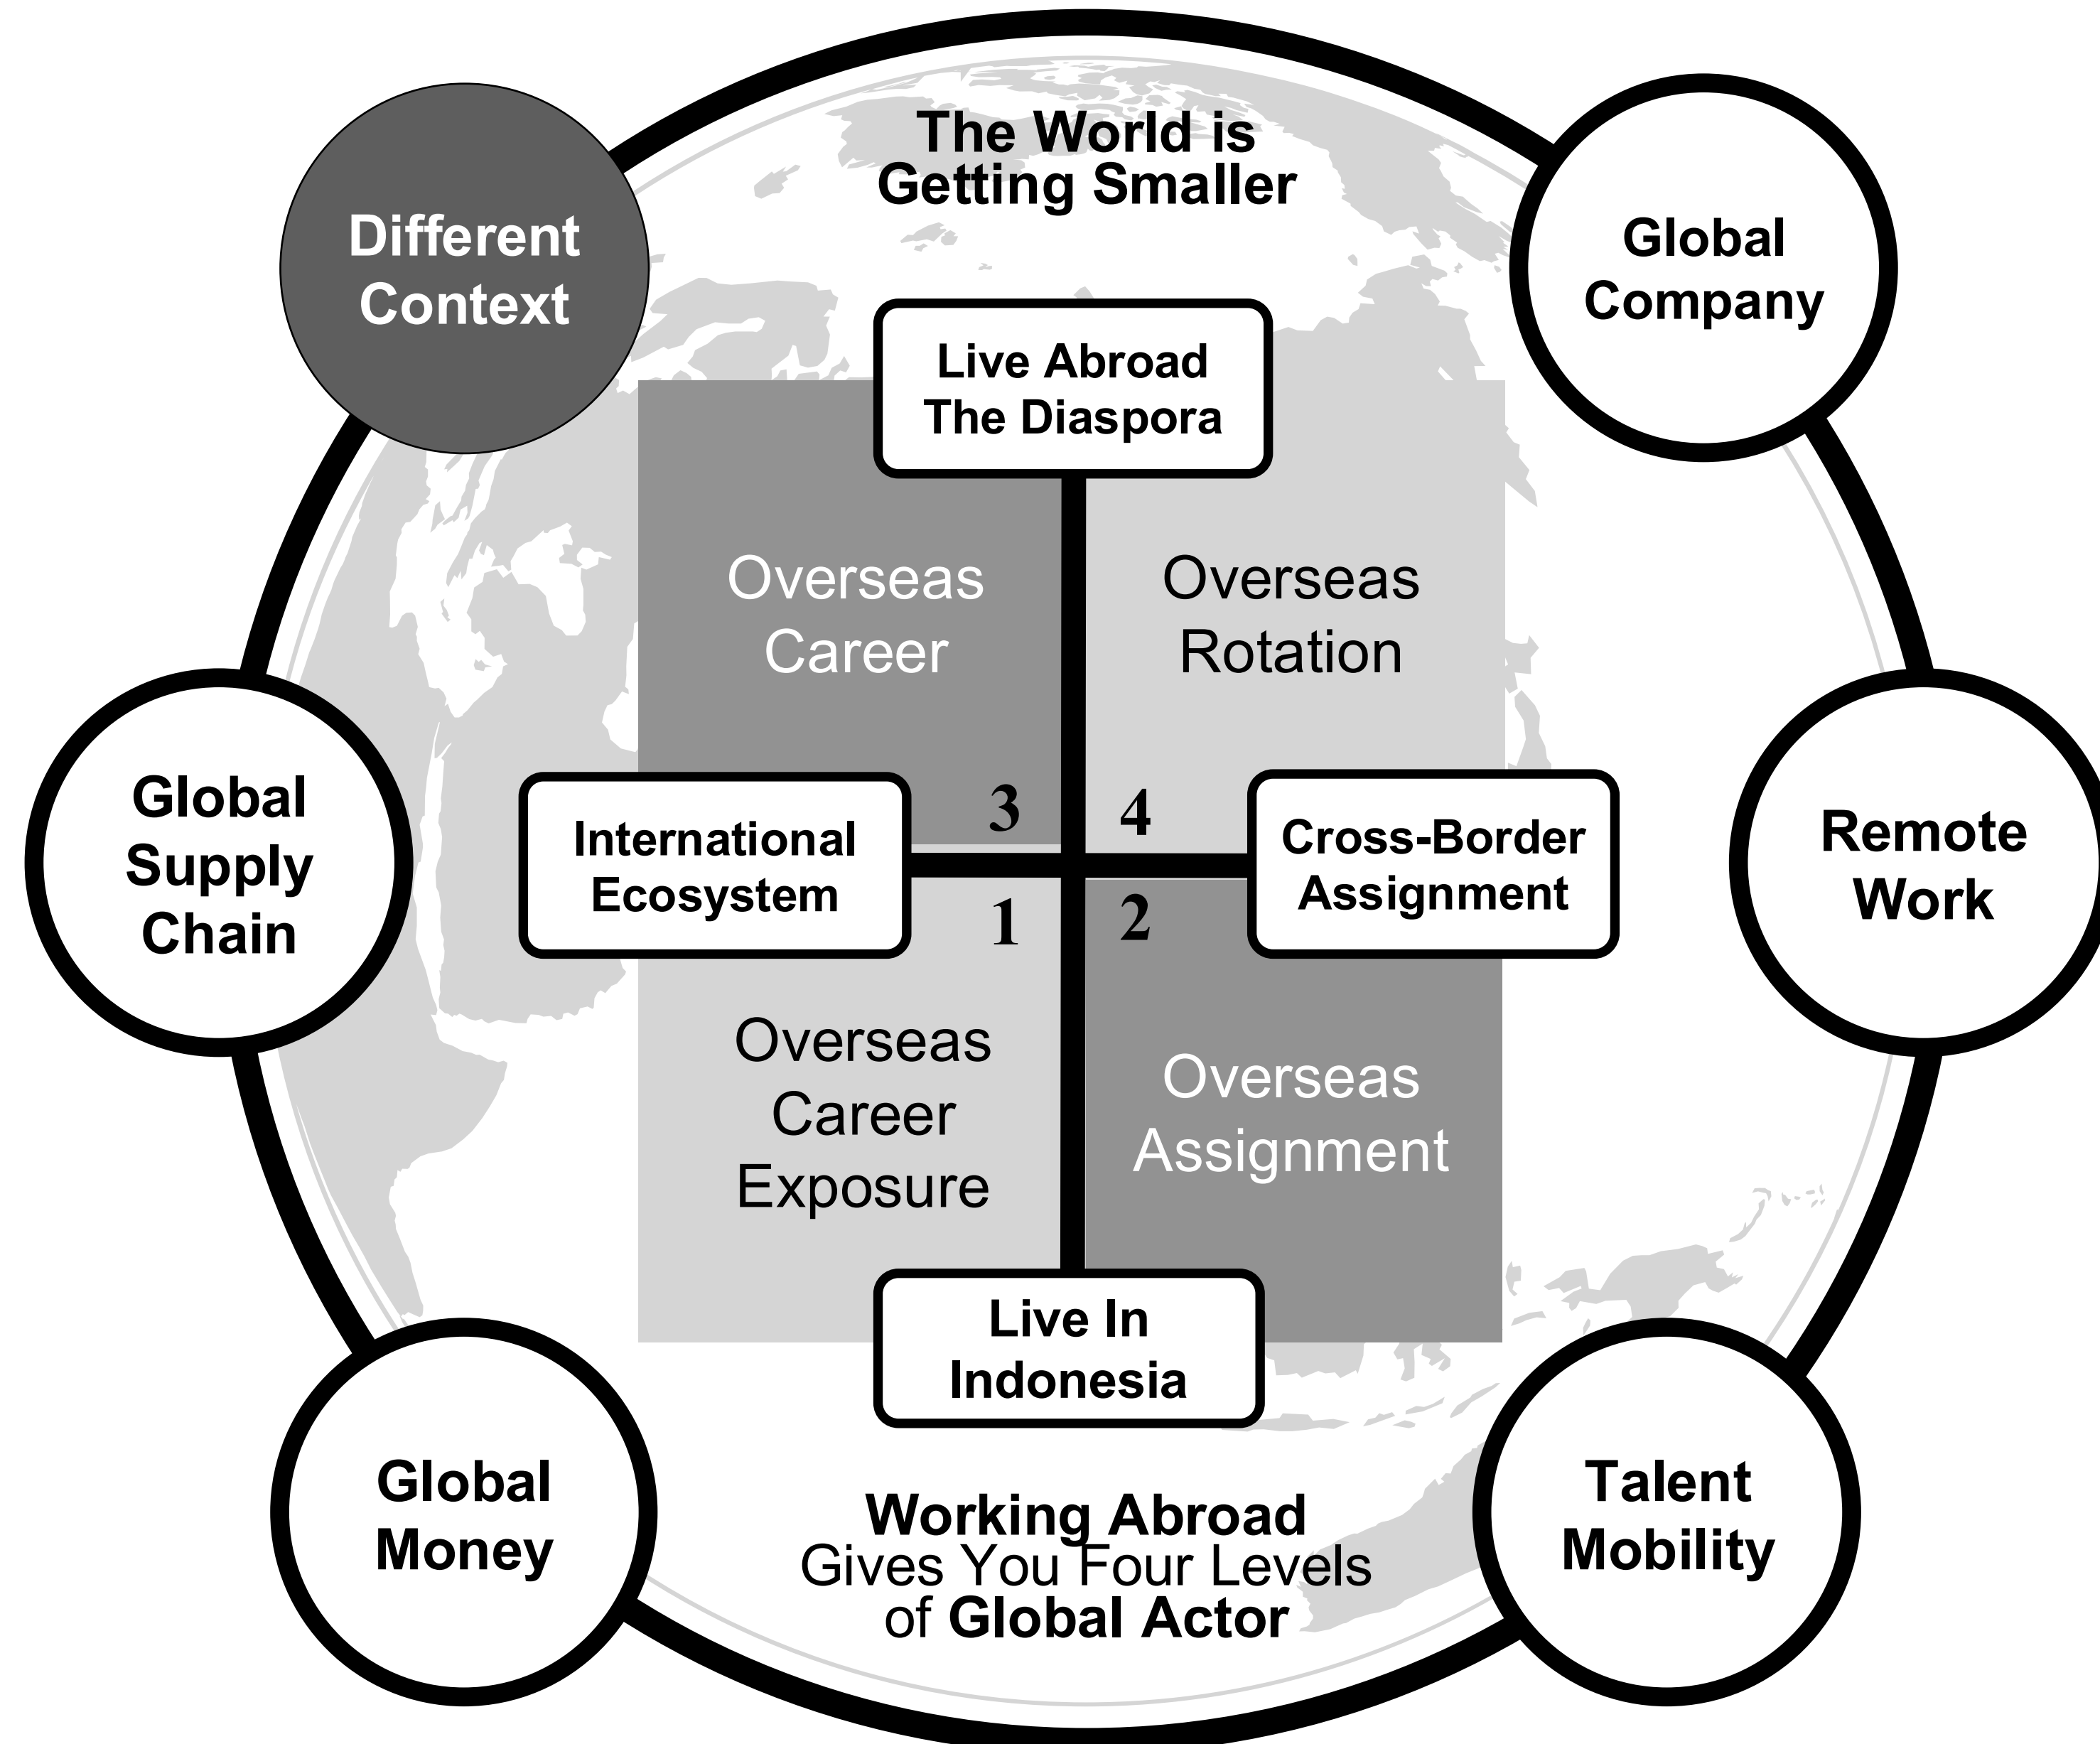

- Build a strong biblical foundation
- Discern God's calling for my life
- Steward my gifts and talents
- Live as Christ-centered ambassadors on campus

Are you ready to be a global actor?

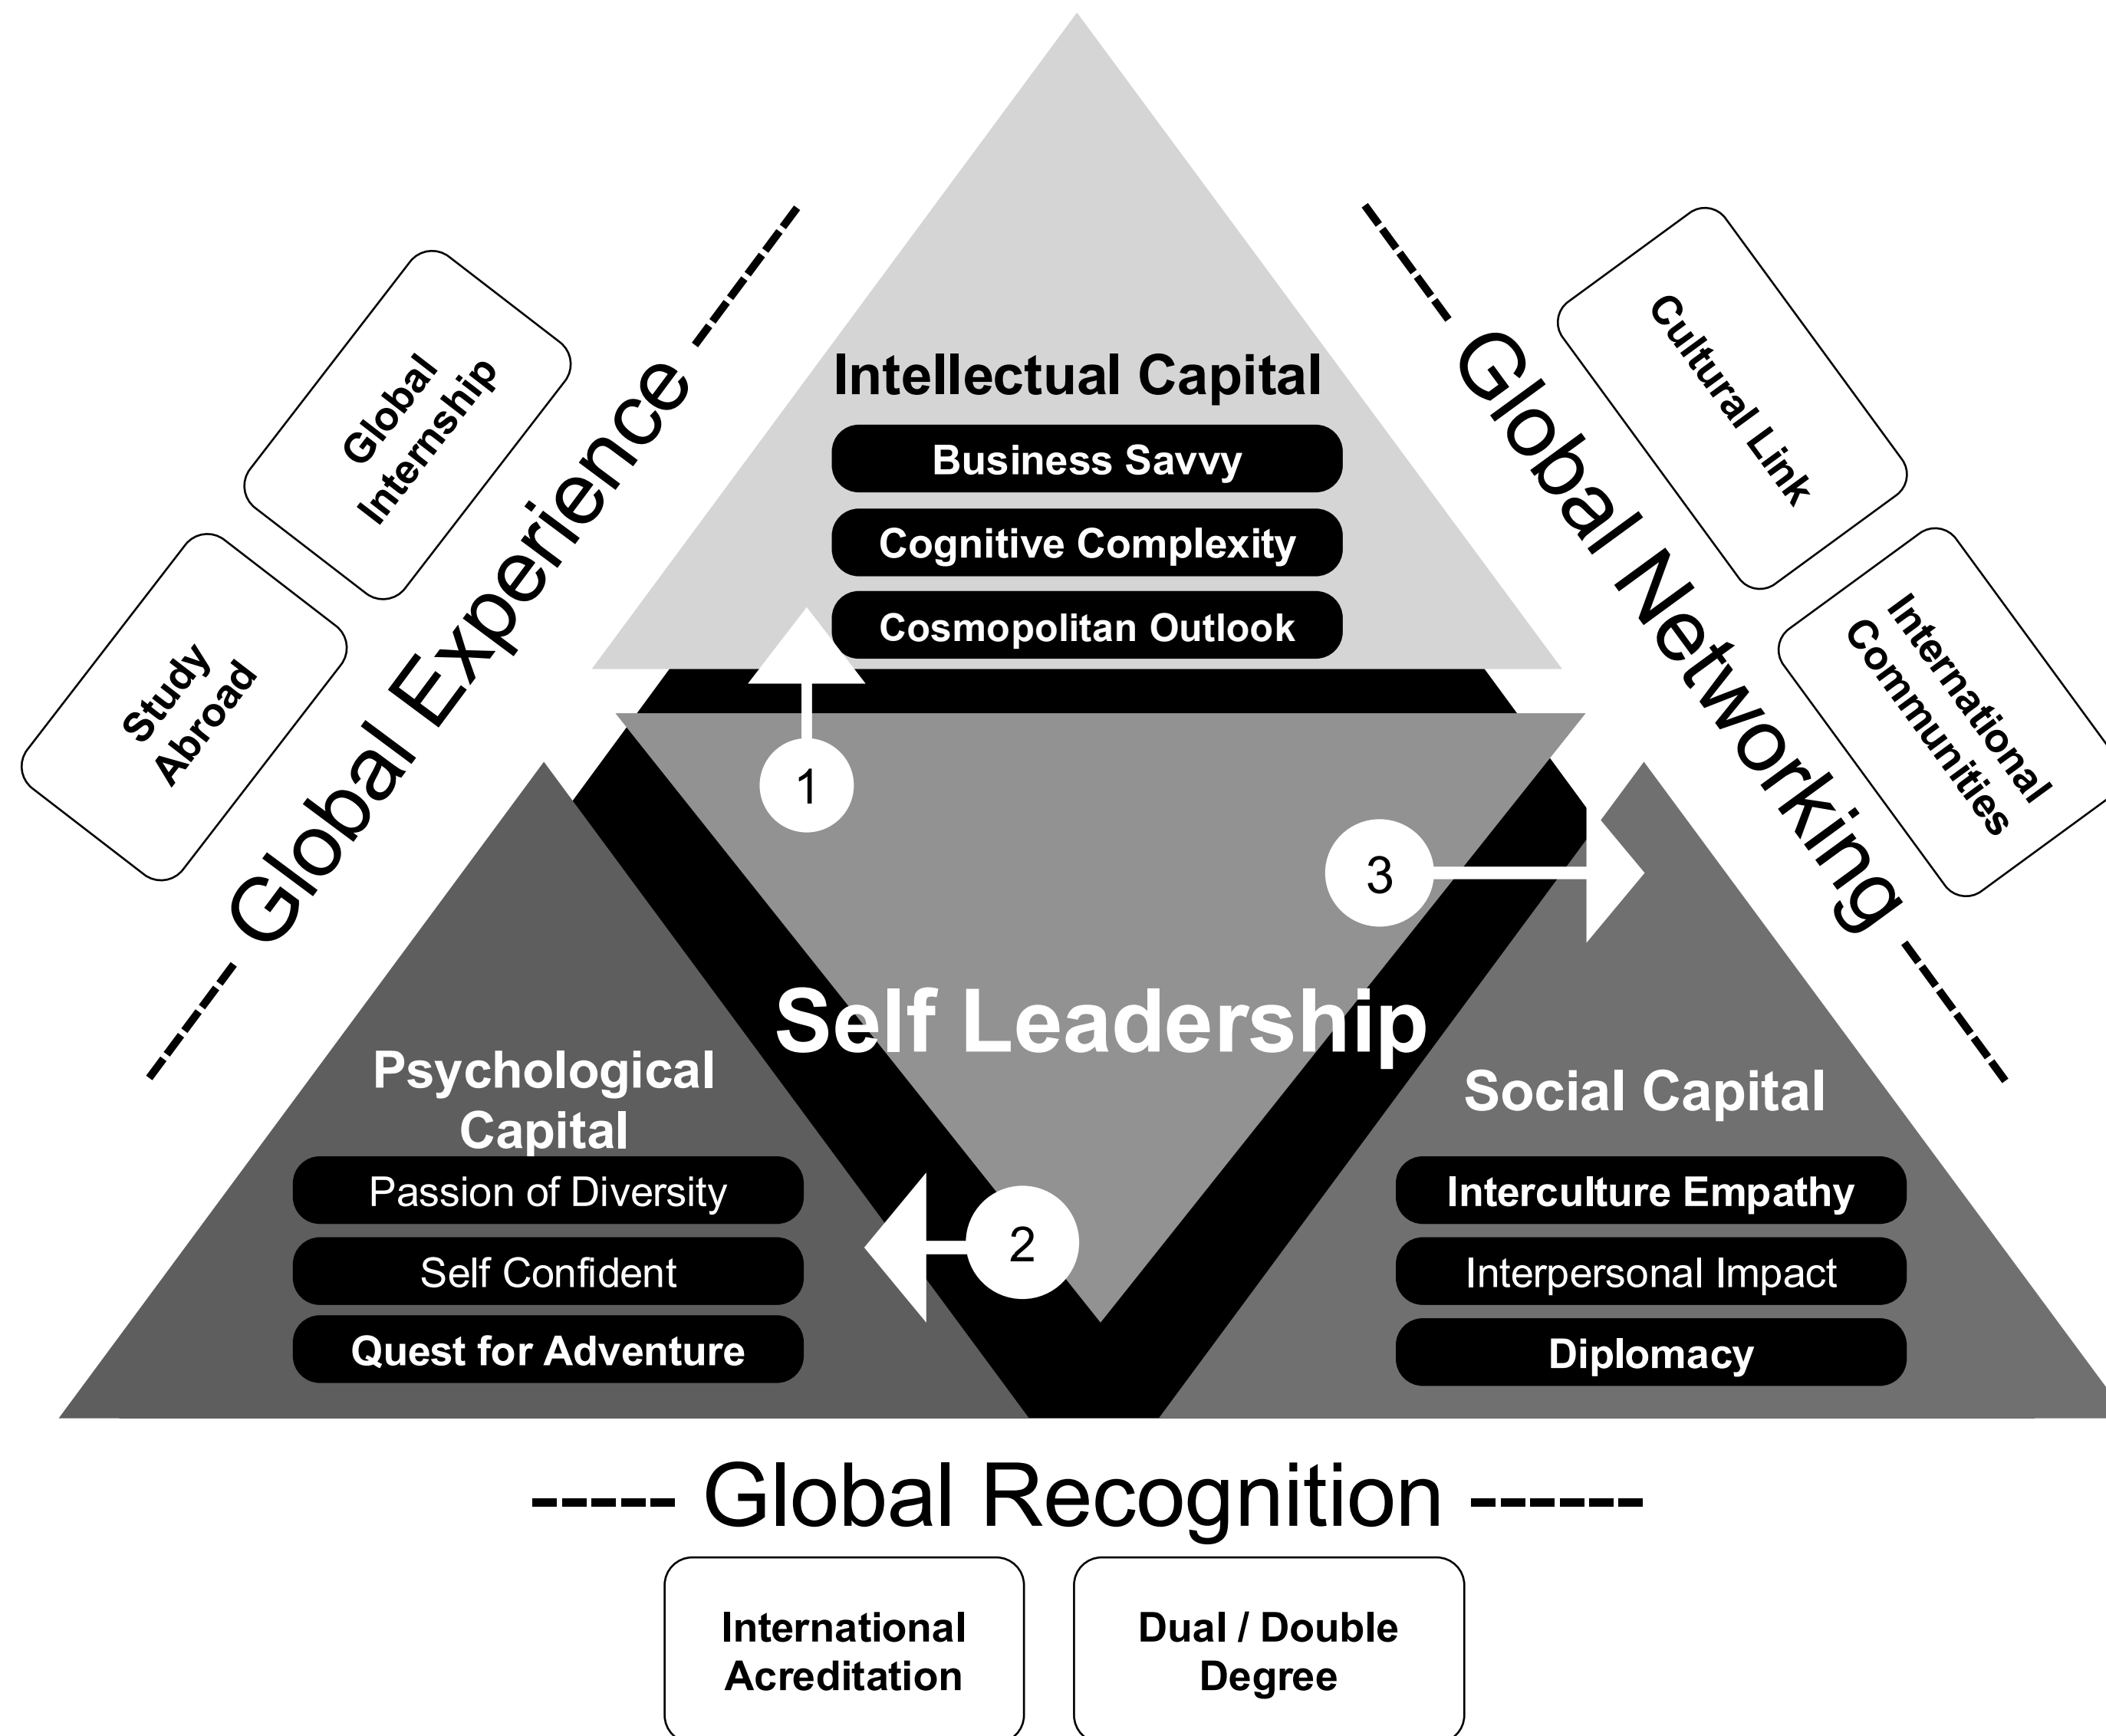

Self-Leadership teaches students to lead themselves through

- Self-Control,
- Self-Management,
- Self-Mastery, and
- Self-Transcendence.

Together, these foundations build character, discipline, growth, and purpose for university and future life.

- International student mobility increased from 3.0M to 4.6M (OECD), reflecting the growing role of global education.
- 72% of Erasmus+ graduates credited international experience with helping them secure their first job.
- Global careers start at university through international internships and global projects.
